Romulus man Charged in rape

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

A 49-year-old Romulus man has been bound over for trial in the July 8 rape of a 17-year-old retarded girl, who had walked away from the group home she resided in.

William Banks Jr., a.k.a. Washington Banks, is accused of taking the girl — whose mental age is that of a six-year-old and socially that of eight years — into his home and having sex with her against her will: 3rd degree criminal sexual conduct.

Before the examination began, prosecutors expressed some doubt that their case would hold, since the only witness was the girl herself, and due to her impaired mental capacity, it was unknown how she would stand up to questioning.

Although given to minor fits of crying, the girl held herself up well, due in part to the remarkable tact and emotional support the court provided.

Prior to the girl taking the stand, a worker at the Romulus group home testified.

About 5:10 p.m. on July 8th, I noticed that (victim) was not in her room and nowhere to be found. I left in my car to look for her. There were other workers at the home, there were always three or so on duty for the six residents.

"A couple of boys I'd asked told me they would take me to her, but only if I took them to the show."

She testified that she agreed, that the boys got in and drove to the home of Banks. One of the boys, it turned out, was reportedly Banks' son.

"I saw (her), and she said she didn't want to go back, but then she started crying and hugging me."

"This would be a very serious charge were she an adult, but she's only a child."

"He kept patting her and saying 'You're OK, I didn't hurt you,' and she kept replying she was fine, 'he didn't hurt me.' Well, she seemed OK."

The worker then drove the victim and the boys to the show as promised, and, upon returning to the group home and meeting with other staff members and a Romulus detective she said she had been raped. Police are routinely called when a resident is missing.

In the courtroom, some of the girl's statements contradicted those made by other witnesses, but the prosecuting attorney in-

Talks continue

By STEVE O'LEARY

The new school millage passed, so why are the Romulus teachers working without a contract?

That's the question people are asking, but Romulus Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell says that there really isn't too much to worry about, and that everything is amiable. Teachers at various district schools vouched for that statement's authenticity.

"We've been meeting, and we'll continue to meet," Bedell said, "the problems aren't major, and I'm confident they'll be overcome."

Although admitting that there has been "no progress," Bedell claims that the hold-up in the talks is due mainly to the Romulus schools' involvement in the Tri-County bargaining unit, which takes in 11 communities.

"I'm confident that our teachers in Romulus would be glad to settle today with what we've offered," Bedell stated, and although he would not disclose the amount, it is believed that the offer is in the area of a five percent increase.

Due to the failure of the voters to pass millages in the past, Romulus teachers were forced to take cuts in pay, the board was forced to make rollbacks, and bonds were sold to keep the schools open. Many feel they should receive pay increases now, a feeling that Bedell echoes.

According to Bedell, the school board also feels that the district needs a raise across the board. "The language in the contract seems to be settled on," Bedell said, "the problems lie in the longevity of the contracts, hours for teachers now that we've reinstated sixth-hour classes, and things like that. But" Bedell repeated, "everything is very amiable." A teacher at one of the district schools added, "Yes, but for how long?"

Bit of Hollywood

Romulus man tows wrecks for motion pictures

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

"I tried to bring a little bit of Hollywood to Romulus," says Michael Williams, a lifelong Romulus resident whose work behind the scenes on three motion pictures filmed — at least partly — in Michigan has gained him acclaim from that most important arts organization, the Film Actors Guild.

Williams runs a towing service, named "Williams and Son" (his son is seven-years-old), and is also a supplier of sorts of used cars. His work in the genre is, essentially, towing used cars (often looking like new ones) to a specific location, making sure they run perfectly, watching the stunt drivers crash them, then towing the wrecks away (quickly) and getting new-old cars back out there if the next shot calls for it.

Without people like Mike Williams, Burt would never have a high-speed chase scene, the Dukes of Hazard would be no more and films, as a general rule, would be much slower.

Williams was first contracted to work on the aborted film "Fast Eddy," which was to star "Airplane's" Robert Hays and the ever popular Loni Anderson. Soon after Anderson made a publicity appearance (with hordes of clamoring photographers) at Greenfield Village last year, it was announced the film was being shelved.

Williams' next film contracting job was in the much-anticipated "XYZ Murders," made by the same three Michigan State University grads that filmed (on a much lower budget) the horror classic "Evil Dead," which continues to play to packed houses at midnight showings on two continents.

"Word got around the industry that, if you're filming in Michigan and have a need for this type of service, I'm the one to call," says Williams.

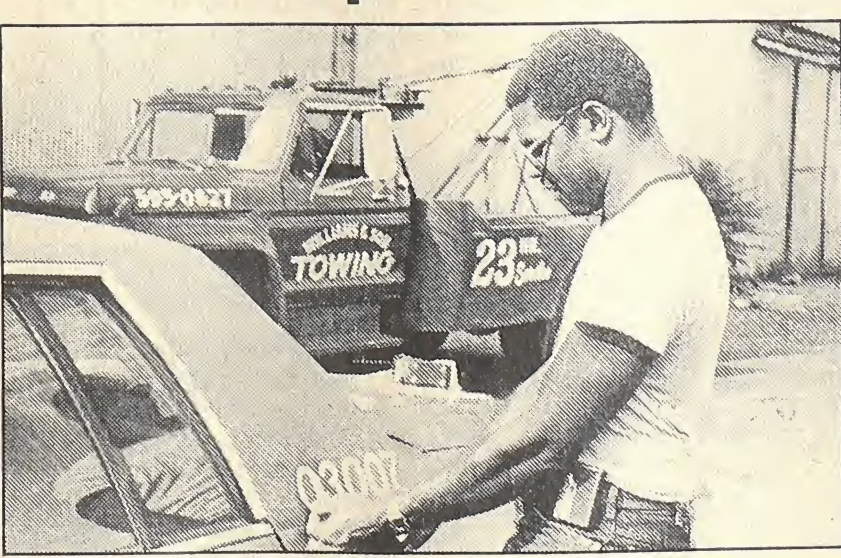

Indeed, he says that the head of the Michigan unit of the Film Actors Guild, Transportation Division, was looking to hire a different firm for "Beverly Hills Cop," at least until he received a letter touting the proficiency of Williams and Son Towing. He got the job.

"The 'XYZ Murders' film involved me in over six months of work," says Williams, adding that he worked over five months on this latest opus.

"It's really strange to someone just getting their feet wet in the industry, to realize that out of 50, 60 hours of filming, maybe thirty seconds of it will be onscreen when the movie gets released, which is tentatively set for the Christmas season."

When queried as to whether or not he met the star of the film, Eddie Murphy, Williams laments that no, he didn't. "He was only in town for a couple of days, and that was before filming began. The filming that was done in Michigan, that is."

Williams relates that Mur-

phy's double, Alan Oling, did the stunts and driving that will appear to be done by Murphy when the final product is polished off. "But that's Hollywood!" Williams said.

Most of the work done here was shot near Michigan Avenue and 31st Street, and some was done on John R.

"I had to get the cars, make sure they were in perfect running condition, buy other props, all kinds of things, and I was given a budget of $26,000 to work with. It sounds like a lot, but considering what had to be bought and rented, it really isn't," Williams said.

Hollywood dreams? "Sure, who doesn't," Williams replied. "I don't think I'm going to be in the film though. I was in a couple of shots as an extra, but I don't think I'll be visible. My truck was, though, that's got my name on it, so, you know, that's cool," he said.

When asked about his trucks (he has four, and all were needed for the filming), and, in particular, the sign on the side that reads "23 Hour Service," Williams laughingly said "there are all kinds of explanations for that," jokingly adding that "unfortunately, most of them would be unprintable in a newspaper."

"Just say I know one hour for myself, to be with my son, or just to party. And that's the truth!"

Can Romulus look forward to seeing more work by one of her native sons in motion pictures? "I certainly hope so, I love it," says Williams, adding that he would love it if he could talk one of the directors into shooting some of the film within the city limits of Romulus, maybe even using residents as extras.

"That'd really be great,"

One of many stunts performed for "Beverly Hills Cop." Both the stuntman and the motorcycle came away unscathed. The watermelons, however, were totaled.

Don't miss the fair!

Better parents Beyer offer skills classes

During the summer a group of area parents met in a room, donated by St. Luke Episcopal Church in Ypsilanti, for a series of parenting classes jointly sponsored by Beyer Memorial Hospital, the Washtenaw County Health Department and the Visiting Nurse Association of Huron Valley.

The response to the classes was enthusiastic enough that the health care organizations will repeat the series this fall.

The free series of nine classes begins Sept. 13 and will meet each Thursday from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Free child care will be available with health and safety activities provided for the children.

St. Luke Episcopal Church is located at 120 N. Huron in Ypsilanti.

While the classes are free, registration is necessary and can be made by calling 73-1460.

"The classes are a reflection of some relatively new attitudes towards parenting," said Margy Fox, parent/child nurse specialist with the Washtenaw County Health Department. "We cover such issues as first aid, nutrition and discipline and try to blend practical advice with an understanding of the child. Solving a 'problem' with a child involves the child's point of view."

Juliet Balsbaugh, R.N. of Beyer Memorial Hospital, added: "During the first cycle of classes, we were pleased to find the parents developing an attitude or style towards parenting. Many of the parents began to see themselves and their children as people with sometimes separate needs working towards a compromise. This is very different from the stereotype of parent as an enforcer of rules."

Support for the classes has come from contributions from the Beyer Auxiliary, Mead Johnson and the Kiwanis of Greater Ypsilanti. The series begins with "How to Listen To Your Child." On Sept. 20 the topic is "When Your Child is Sick or Injured." Sept. 27 will feature "Showing Your Love," while the Oct. 4 topic is "Health For Woman."

"Your Child's Identity" is scheduled for Oct. 11, and "Feeding Your Child" and "How To Immunize Your Child" for Oct. 18. The topics for Oct. 25 are

"Physical Care of Your Child" and "Teaching Your Child Through Play."

The series concludes with "Your Child's Discipline" on Nov. 1 and "Your Child's Safety" on Nov. 8.

BPW meeting has ho-down theme

"Welcome to the BPW Texas Ho-down," was the invitation that greeted members and guests who passed under the welcoming banner to attend the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club picnic on Aug. 6.

BPW Club President Sophie Zoller and her daughter, Pam, a BPW student member, were hostesses for the gathering, during which country and western music helped set the "Ho-down" tone for the festive evening.

Following an appropriate dinner of barbecued ribs and fried chicken, catered by Jeff Mead, Zoller conducted a brief business meeting which contained the following announcements:

- A BPW lunch-fashion show is planned for Saturday, Oct. 20 at the Brasse Connection of Belleville.
- Kline's Clothing Store of Ann Arbor will provide women's and men's fashions for the event.
- All BPW members are urged to attend the State Membership Conference, scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 18 in Graying.
- To encourage voting in the November general election, club officers have secured the presence of U.S. Congressman William Ford, who will be the BPW's dinner guest.

Club member Aldine Potter entertained guests with recitations of serious and humorous poetry.

Arrangements for the Texas-style picnic were made by 1984-85 BPW officers Sophie Zoller, president; Connie Stoelton, president-elect; Ila Hayes, vice-president; Judy Taylor, recording secretary; Sandy Butler, corresponding secretary and Sharon Collins, treasurer.

Guests included members of both the Allen Park and Ann Arbor BPW organizations, as well as local guests.

The BPW group is the world's largest organization for women actively engaged in a business or profession. The objective of the group is to elevate the standards, promote the interests and extend opportunities to working women through education.

The Belleville BPW welcomes employed guests to each of its monthly dinner meetings. Details about the group may be obtained by calling 697-5761.

Study Club meets

The Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club will hold the first meeting of the 1984-85 club year on Wednesday, Sept. 19, at 8 p.m.

The first meeting of the year is traditionally an "open" meeting, where interested women in the community are invited to attend, as a no-obligation guest, to learn about the group.

The GFWC Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club is active in six main areas of public service — Public Affairs, Education, International Affairs, Arts, Conservation and Home Life. Specific plans within these fields for the coming year include a historic home and church tour, a road rally, a trivial pursuit tournament, restoration of an 1860's farmhouse for use as a children's "hands-on" museum, a Meet The Candidate Night for the upcoming election, an open house for Girlstown, and a repeat of the highly successful "Giving Tree" project, as well as other programs.

Interested parties should contact Gloria Gardner, president, at 697-9209, to make a reservation to attend the open meeting.

Romulus man bound over

dicated that this happened on minor points, when the girl answered quickly and without thinking. "It's obvious," he stated, "that when she takes time to think, her answers are quite definite and complex."

After the girl had endured the witness stand, Stone ruled that enough evidence had been presented to bind Banks over for a pre-trial examination on the charge.

The attorney for Banks argued that some testimony by the girl "seemed almost coached," but Stone disagreed.

"This is a most unfortunate and difficult matter. At any age, this kind of thing is terribly traumatic, but for someone with the mental capacity of a six-year-old, it is moreso," said Stone.

"While there were some discrepancies, they were minor and, I feel, due to the extreme emotional state she was in up on the witness stand, being forced to recall the alleged incident."

"Her testimony of what transpired on the floor of the living room was very descriptive, right down to the color of his underclothing. When she was asked to stand up and identify her alleged assailant, although she said 'Is that him?' she pointed at the defendant, even though there were two other black men in the courtroom. Her emotions were obviously running high and I am convinced there are sufficient reasons to hold Mr. Banks over," Stone said.

Afterwards, Detective Sgt. David Early pointed out that Banks had a number of aliases on the police computer, and indicated previous troubles. It was also mentioned that Banks lives near the group home in question. Bail was set at $15,000 (at 10 percent).

As the shaken girl was escorted from the courtroom by one of the home workers, or "my staff," as she called them, she ran up to Detective Early and crying, threw her arms around him and repeatedly said "I was so scared . . ." Comforted, she was taken back to the home.

While the subject of medical evidence was never brought up, the fact that the girl was taken to a hospital emergency room immediately after returning to the home was never questioned by the defense, seemed to indicate that there was medical proof a rape (or "sexual intercourse") had taken place. It was likely held back for future use.

Next up is a preliminary examination, to take place in Downtown Detroit on Sept. 18. It was felt that due to the disturbing influence the courtroom has on the child, a plea bargain was possible.

"This is an extremely serious charge," Stone said later in his chambers. "It would be a very, very severe charge were she an adult. But she's a child," he stressed.

"Only a child . . ."

Willett appointed to new 2-year term on SBAM board

David J. Willett, president of Associated Newspapers Inc. of Wayne, was recently elected to the Board of Directors of the Small Business Association of Michigan for the 1984-85 program year.

Willett was chosen by the association during its 14th annual membership meeting July 25 in Traverse City.

"As a successful, experienced small business person, Willett will be a valuable advocate for small business person, and a valuable advocate for small business interests in Michigan," said John Galles, Executive Director of SBAM.

"He will be able to contribute significantly to the association's efforts to preserve and enrich the environment for small business in this state."

A state-wide non-profit volunteer organization, SBAM is dedicated to the support, promotion and encouragement of Michigan small business owners and operators. The association is the primary advocate for small business in Michigan and is actively involved in legislative issues at both the state and federal level.

"The seeds planted during the early years of the Small Business movement are now germinating," Willett said of his selection. "It is gratifying to see that SBAM continues to play a key role in nurturing an environment into which small business in Michigan can grow and prosper. I am proud to be a part of it all."

Cantrell
resigns

Patsy Cantrell, Finance Director for the city of Romulus, has rendered her resignation to take the post for another community, which reportedly offered her a raise between $3,000 and $5,000. The city council refused to match the offer. Cantrell is tentatively scheduled to leave Sept. 21.

Meet the new boss . . . same as the old boss?

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

Who is in charge over at Birch Run Cooperative apartments? It all depends on who you ask.

One faction, as reported here last week, maintains that the "old board of directors" has been replaced. Another maintains that legally, there is no such thing as a "new" board, and that the present — or is it former? — board is the one-and-only.

A letter from Fieger, Fieger, Lamping & O'Bryan, a law firm based in Southfield, indicates that "On August 30, 1984, a majority of members (residents) of the Birch Run Cooperative ousted the past Board and elected the new Board."

Not so, says Deborah Street, who has been a member of the board and, she says, still is. "The trouble is that we have some people here who haven't bothered to read their by-laws and understand the function of the board of directors."

According to (at least some) lease agreements, residents of Birch Run have utilities such as gas and water paid for and included in their rent. The "old" five-person board voted to have gas meters installed. Some residents claim they should have had a say in the matter. Some members of the board say that the residents did, but no one came forward until recently, over a year since the inauguration of the project.

Street claims that with the rent cut-backs, which range from $25 to $40 dollars a month, residents can actually save money "if it's monitored right."

Residents claim that heating a three-bedroom apartment for less than $40 is not only impossible, but ridiculous.

"There's no way," says Walter Stewart, the newly-elected board president. "We're talking about charging residents here rate increases that will add up to $80, $100, and more. These people can't afford that."

Some residents have also expressed doubts about the way federal monies have been spent, claiming that roofing work was done that didn't need to be done. "No doubt it was someone on the board's brother," said one resident who asked that their name not be used. "Somebody's getting kickbacks, that's for sure," another said, qualifying it by saying that was their opinion, and they had no proof. Others claimed that on numerous occasions, they have attempted to look at the books and financial records and have been refused, among them Nathaniel Darkins, newly-elected treasurer.

Street claims that the records are open to everyone and, to the best of her knowledge, no one has ever even tried to look at them. "The only books that are closed are those showing the financial status of residents," said Street.

"Our attorney, Geoffrey Fieger, will be getting an injunction against Michigan Consolidated Gas and another ordering the former board to step down," said Stewart.

The "old" board, in a written statement to The Romulus Roman, stated "The Board has sought the advice of a corporate council. While there are some members who have circulated petitions for the recall of the board of directors, the board has held a meeting but, because the group tried to seize the development (Birch Run) contrary to the by-laws and Michigan State statutes, the matter will be resolved in court."

According to Stewart, some of the things he plans on doing "when" control is turned over to him include fighting the meters, having the books checked and ceasing what some members feel is unfair treatment of certain residents who have been involved in the overthrow-of-sorts.

All wrongdoing was denied by Street.

The "old" board consists of: Robert Walker, Kevin Smith, Pamela Turner, Deborah Street and Rita Drumgo.

The "new" board consists of: Walter Stewart, Nathaniel Darkins, Surilla Darkins, Nathaniel D. Darkins and Lee Williams. "We'll see them in court!" both sides contend loudly.

Chamber luncheon scheduled

The monthly luncheon of the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce will be held at 11:30 a.m. Sept. 18 at the Hilton Inn.

Guest speaker will be Carolyn Emerson, of the organ procurement agency of Michigan, an organization formed in 1972 to facilitate the procurement and transplantation of cadaveric kidneys in the state. Emerson, a transplant coordinator, will present a half hour review of the services provided.

Reservations for the luncheon are accepted at the chamber office between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. before Sept. 14. Tickets are $8.

Time for compromise in cable negotiations

Detroit city officials would be well advised to seriously consider a request from Don Barden, president of Barden Cablevision, to scale back its original proposal for the Detroit cable television system.

Barden, the successful bidder for the city franchise, had made every effort, it would appear, to secure financing for this massive undertaking. As part of his game to provide a viable system for a potential market of some 470,000 homes, Barden has secured the assistance of the Toronto-based Maclean Hunter cable firm.

After months of research, Barden and Maclean Hunter have concluded that the proposal simply is too extravagant. The Inkster entrepreneur has asked the Detroit Cable Communications Commission to ratify a more practical system for the community.

What has transpired to date is not surprising, especially in light of the past practice of city officials to seek state of the art cable systems throughout the tri-County area. Ask for the sky and let the cable companies worry about costs, the strategists conclude.

The strategy will not work in Detroit. Cable companies have not been beating down doors trying to secure the franchise rights. Many cable television experts still persist in the belief that construction of a system in a city the size of Detroit is a losing proposition; Warner Amex, for example, lost hundreds of millions of dollars trying to provide cable service in Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

Detroit officials want a system capable of handing some 124 channels. They want 27 local access channels. What their needs translates into is a potential $160 million system that is neither feasible nor pragmatic.

We would suggest that what Detroiters want first and foremost is cable television ... local access, ESPN, HBO, special programs, etc. And they want the service as quickly and economically as can be provided.

If Detroit officials will become more realistic, Barden has the knowledge, track record and determination to fit the needs of Detroit viewers. With systems in place in Inkster, Romulus and Van Buren, Barden has shown the ability to "turn on" a community.

Yes, there have been complaints of delays in construction from Romulus and Van Buren residents. Barden, however, is in the process of hooking up new subscribers everyday, a feat that his predecessor in these communities never achieved.

Competing in a world of corporate giants, Barden not only has survived, he has succeeded. His concern for the communities his company services is an attribute that Detroiters should take note of.

The cable negotiations in Detroit have reached a point of compromise, not politics. To begin another session of rhetoric and posturing will not serve the needs of the community.

Detroiters want cable television — Barden Cablevision can fulfill their long overdue need.

'Sense of community'

Wayne County Executive Bill Lucas waved ... Congressman Bill Ford, Mayor Pat Norton and County Commissioner Milt Mack also gave a nod and a wave, and members of the Wayne City Council were laughing, smiling and good-naturedly jibing as they marched by.

These community leaders were bestowing their presence and their friendship and camaraderie on one and all who lined the streets to view the Wayne Fall Festival Parade last week. A lot of people in town turned out to share the event with the politicians, and with their friends and neighbors.

It was a typical parade ... with all the charm that most demonstrate, the sincere, sometimes clumsy but always cute, side of people. Kids, animals, bands, floats, cars, clowns, food, contests, musical entertainment, rides, crafts — those are the usual offerings at the local festivals the parades most often preview.

This is the time of year when communities roll out a wide array of these festivals, focusing on a theme or a series of events. The fall festival in Wayne featured a "little town" theme with miniatures. There was the Westland Summer Festival, the Strawberry Festival in Belleville and Van Buren, the Romulus Michigan Week Festival, the upcoming Huron Applefest, and the successful Canton Country Festival and Sumpter Days. Plymouth hosted the annual Fall Festival, there is the popular Ann Arbor Art Fair and the ongoing Detroit Ethnic Festivals — all examples of real community effort.

All are designed to bring people together in a sense of community. When the members of a local municipality work together to organize these hometown events, there is an interaction that creates by-products and benefits for everyone involved.

Community festivals can create an awareness of the state of well-being of a community. They are somewhat like bio-feedback. The celebrations tell us: 1) How deep runs the awareness of residents of their own home town, 2) How aware other communities are of the host town as a unit, and 3) How strong the commitment level of a community's business and residents really is.

These displays strengthen citizens' sense of identity with their communities. While some may say, "I don't want to be bothered," or "I don't have the time or interest," most would like to live within a definable geographic unit that they can identify and which helps identify them.

tify and which helps identify them.

"Hi, Bill," "Hi, Mary," — a simple exchange, and yet an act of recognition that says, in a way, "I'm okay, you're okay," or perhaps just, "I'm alive and I know you're alive." That's the kind of simple interaction that often occurs over and over again at festivals across the land.

At these community meeting grounds we meet friends and acquaintances we perhaps don't see for months at a time. We make new friends, we see people of note that we've heard about or perhaps read about in our local newspapers. Typically, Lucas, Ford, Norton, Mack and the councilmen were out in force marching in the Wayne parade.

A few short years ago, we spoke of the "melting pot of America," but the human spirit said, "I'm proud of America, but I'm also proud of my unique heritage and ethnic background" — from that spirit the ethnic festivals were born. A few years ago we also heard much about the "greater metropolitan Detroit area," with a unified transportation system, water and sewer system and even a police department.

But the human spirit spoke again ... "Wait a minute — I'm proud of my community, and I want to be a part of the celebration of my community identity."

Yes, society can deal best with certain necessities for enriching the human condition on a broader scale. It seems, however, there is a growing awareness that people don't want to be just a member in some sea of metropolises. They want to be a part of a community of which they are proud ... part of a town like Sumpter, Romulus, Wayne, Belleville, Inkster, Canton, New Boston, Huron, Westland or Van Buren.

If a community festival seems, well, feeble, disorganized and lacking in a sense of direction — then perhaps we should recognize that as a reflection of the spirit of that community.

If, however, the community festival is better than last year, a little ragged, but fun, clever, folksy and enjoyable, perhaps that is an indication that community spirit is alive and well and crying for much-deserved recognition.

I'm proud of the renewed sense of community in the areas we serve. I think we should all foster a renewed sense of community ... it speaks well for the health of the human spirit and the health of America.

See you next week.

Interim director gives explanation

To the Editor:

I have heard and read some strange things in reference to my resignation as interim Recreation Director for the City of Westland. I would like the opportunity to set the record straight.

Mayor Charles W. Pickering gave me excellent direction and assistance, while the City Council was extremely supportive. All the people I worked with went out of their way to be cooperative. I did have two small problems. I could have used more money in the Recreation budget, and found the Union skeptical of my enthusiasm. Basically, I had a wonderful time.

I resigned because I had accomplished all of my goals except one, and felt, by resigning, I would also achieve this one. Rumors had it that I might stay on as Recreation Director, and I could not convince people that I was getting things ready for Mike Mushett. So, to remove all doubt, I resigned. Evidently, it worked, because Mike was appointed to the job.

Poor playground

To the Editor:

On August 29, I took my children to the Hoover Elementary School playground.

I was completely appalled by what we found. There was litter and garbage strewn about. Broken glass everywhere. The swings were broken apart and falling off. The seesaws were in pieces. Almost every breakable piece of equipment was damaged. It was disgusting!

How do you explain to a four-year old that he can't stay and play? How do you explain that the place is like a dump and you fear he will fall and be injured?

Are the school grounds only kept clean and safe while school is in session? If so, why do I pay school taxes year round? What is the money used for?

I used to be proud of the fact that I attended the Wayne-Westland School District for twelve years. I used to be glad that my children would soon go to it. Not any more.

Rodent problem

To the Editor:

Attention: Wayne City Manager, City Council and anyone else in this city who has any authority.

A Woodchuck is a stout bodied, short legged rodent with coarse fur, a short bushy tail and small ears.

Did you notice the word "rodent" in the Webster's Dictionary definition? Also in that same family is the rat, if I'm not mistaken. If rats were infesting our city, you can bet your life the city would do something to rid us of these pests. However, those "cute" little woodchucks are allowed to ruin our gardens, dig under our fences and houses, spoil our landscaping and in general ruin all the pleasure derived from raising our own vegetables and flowers.

I'm mad! And doggone it, I wish other people would complain to the city about it too! Woodchucks are wild animals and since we live in a city (correct me if I'm wrong), but isn't there an ordinance against wild animals in the city? Especially if they practically outnumber the residents?

How about it taxpayers? Let's get the city busy and do something about it!

Series on a sexual abuse of children aims at saving lives

By ROSE MARY REIZ
ANP Staff Writer

The sexual abuse of children. If you're like most parents, you don't want to think about it. Or hear about it. Or read about it. Would you change your mind if you knew that learning more about the subject could save your child's life?

That's the message of a five-part television mini-series on child sexual abuse which will air on WTVS/Channel 56 Detroit, as well as other public broadcasting systems across the nation, next week.

The pioneering effort airs at 7-8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, Sept. 17 through 20, with each of the five shows designed for a specific audience (see program schedule below right).

Actor Mike Farrell (B.J. of "M*A*S*H") hosts the series, which begins with an introductory segment (Monday) for parents.

Portions of the first program, recommended for viewing by a mature audience only, feature coverage of a former city attorney who abused young boys and a small-town pediatrician who abused his adolescent patients. Also shown are portions of subsequent shows, so that parents may decide which are best seen by their children.

Participants in the series point out that many parents, afraid of frightening their children, avoid the subject of sexual abuse. In doing so, they may inadvertently be setting their children up as potential victims.

"Our basic premise is that kids who don't know what to expect are far more vulnerable than those who do," says Mary Ellen Stone, director of King County Rape Relief.

The second segment (half-hour) of the PBS series addresses the needs of kindergartners through third-graders and dispenses information gently, yet clearly. The program features Stone using story telling and "what if?" games to help children learn to "say 'no', run away, and tell."

"We need to teach children how to draw the line between normal cuddling and sexual abuse," Stone says. "Basically, kids do recognize the difference. They understand, on a gut level, when they're being exploited, although they may not be able to express it."

Parents may not like to admit it, Stone adds, "but young kids have heard words like 'rapist'. Lacking factual information, they often invent their own definitions—some that leave them unprepared to deal with reality."

"It's very typical for young children to carry horror stories around with them," the director reports.

"One little girl's definition of a rapist," Stone recalls, "was 'a man who takes you from your house, takes you down the street and cuts you into tiny pieces.' We have to ask ourselves, is the reality less frightening than what children are imagining? We've told our kids to watch out, but we haven't said, watch out for what."

Without intending to, parents often teach their children to obey adults and authority figures without question—instructions that may endanger their lives.

"Choosing a babysitter, leaving the home and instructing your child to 'do everything the babysitter tells you to do' can be a real setup," Stone says.

Stone also appears in the next program, for fourth-through seventh-graders. In this segment, she adapts prevention techniques for an older audience.

Included in the segment is a "what if" situation in which two youngsters disobey their parents by going alone to the park, where they are accosted. Fearing punishment because they disobeyed orders, they are afraid to relate the incident for their parents.

"Parents have to say, 'If you do break rules, we still want to hear about the problem—That's more important than the rule you broke,'" Stone says.

Subsequent segments address the difficult situations junior and senior high school students face when entering the new world of dating. "Acquaintance" or "date rape", the most common forms of sexual abuse for junior and senior high school ages, are explored.

Throughout the series, participants attempt to dispell myths surrounding child sexual abuse, an issue clouded by fear and misconception.

Current data shows that one of every three girls and one out of ten boys will experience some form of sexual abuse before they reach the age of 18.

Although statistics vary, only 10 percent of child sex abuse cases involve a stranger as the offender. The remaining 90 percent involve someone the child knows. Or even loves. Approximately 30 percent of those cases involve the father or stepfather as offender. An increasing number of cases are being reported in which both parents are the offenders.

The majority of reported cases involve male offenders and female victims.

One widely held myth is the belief that abused male children later become homosexuals. Another is that offenders are primarily homosexuals. In reality, the sex offender is most often a heterosexual male who has an ongoing relationship with a wife or other woman and who abuses both male and female children.

Although only a very small percent of offenders are strangers, the PBS series does address the issue of sex crime occurrences in shopping centers. Malls have become hangouts for kids and likely places for an adult who may be seeking sex with children, to lurk.

In one segment Ted, now 19, recounts his experience of to come back and say, 'I'm not angry at you, but what happened to you.'

"The disbelief is difficult for a parent to get over," she explains, "in the same way that "Kids who don't know what to expect are far more vulnerable than those who do. We've told our kids to watch out, but we haven't said, watch out for what."

— Mary Ellen Stone

being sexually abused eight years ago by an adult male in the restroom of a local shopping center.

Shortly after the crime, Ted rejoined his mother in the mall. He was "shaking like a leaf," but, like many young victims, didn't report the crime.

Ted's advice to parents? "Learn to talk to your kids. Make sure you're close enough so they're not afraid of telling you what's happened."

One reason many children don't report such incidents is that they anticipate (often with good reason) the parent's negative reaction—disbelief, anger, even disappointment or blame.

"Some parents do believe and support the child," Stone says, "especially if the offender is further away—not a member of the family."

"But a typical reaction from parents is, (shouted) 'What did you say?' Parents really have reporting and elaborating on the incident is difficult for the child. In fact, many children are not able to do more than give little hints—hints that parents can learn to look for.

"If children are afraid to return to someone's home, or to be left alone with the grandfather, or don't want a certain babysitter back, a parent needs to find out why."

"The symptoms of child sex abuse are often the same as symptoms for any problem—problems with learning, sleeping, eating."

Those involved with the making of the PBS series hope that parents will learn to recognize those signs—and that they will learn to communicate about an issue that is only worsened by silence.

"We have to remember," one participant in the show states, "that a deviant act requires secrecy. When the secret is blown, it stops."

Facts about child abuse

FACT

— One out of three girls and one out of ten boys will be victims of sexual abuse before age 18.

— Children as young as infants can be abused; even preschoolers are not immune from danger.

— Most assailants (85%) are someone known and trusted by the victim.

— Most perpetrators are people who appear normal in most respects.

— A wide range of sexual behavior may be involved, usually short of intercourse.

— Few children are physically hurt. Coercion may involve trickery, bribery or threats. We must be sensitive to more subtle forms of abuse.

— More than half of all rapes occur in the home; the next most common place is in a car.

— Less than five percent of rapists use a weapon.

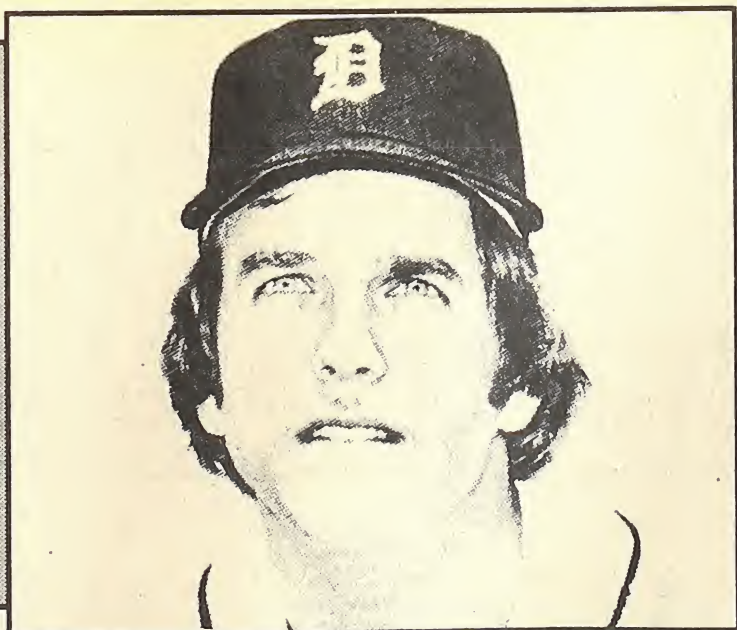

— Most children will be involved in repeated incidents, often over a period of years.

— In most cases, more harm is caused by the over-reaction of the adults.

Providing a foster home for a 1-year-old is never easy, especially if the adoptee is a wild Mustang colt born in the high hills of Oregon. Like most who adopt, Patti Heidisch thinks the rewards outweigh the demands.

A participant in the nationwide Adopt-A-Horse program, Heidisch's love of the animals goes back as far as she can remember. (She got her first horse at the age most teenagers are begging for a car, and has spent years either studying, teaching or following the thoroughbred racing circuit.

Life in Detroit, a job with a Birmingham brokerage firm and college separated horses from Heidisch, until her parents' purchase of a home on 12 acres of land in Belleville renewed the 27-year-old's hunger for a horse of her own.

Two weeks ago, Heidisch abandoned her parents' barn-raising to visit a Manchester wild burro and horse adoption site "just to look."

But Mom knew better. "I know my daughter," Jean Heidisch laughs, "and I expected Patti to come home with something."

"I was the first one at the site, and one of the only ones interested in a horse," Heidisch recalls. "Most were there for burros." (Burros, the Bureau of Land Management suggests, are easier to tame.) "I was lucky," Heidisch says. "I got my first choice of 90 horses."

First choice was the alert 14.2-hands-high grey mustang. Labeled by a number, the Heidisch family soon called him "Aces Wild," after his wild origin and their farm named "Horses Ace."

After a quick trip home to prepare her parents for the reading the Adopt-A-Horse instruction pamphlet aloud to him ... from a distance.

At first merely tolerated, Heidisch knew she was making progress when Aces first allowed his new owner to feed him by hand.

"The first time he ate, it was a wonderful feeling," Heidisch says. "You think, 'I've finally gained some of his confidence.'" new arrival ("All this while we were trying to raise a barn!" her mother laughs), Heidisch managed to rent a trailer, return to Manchester and bring Aces home.

With the barn half-raised, family and friends joined in the three-hour task of catching Aces, who had escaped the trailer lunging and bucking his way to the far reaches of the 120- by 500-foot pen.

After the capture, Aces seemed content to stay in the open barn. Unbothered by the noise and confusion of construction, he curiously poked his head into piles of lumber and post holes.

In the meantime, his new owner worked at gaining Aces' trust by sitting near him, talking to him, even

Just two weeks after Ace's arrival, a much shorter time than the land bureau predicts it may take to establish close contact, the pair enjoy daily training and brushing sessions.

Even more attention and hand-on care was necessary after Aces developed an illness last week. Coughing and weak, the wild horse seemed to understand Heidisch's intentions and willingly submitted to medication, injections and blood tests.

His temperature and appetite returned to normal, Aces and his new owner now seem to have conquered their first, but probably not last, adjustment problem.

"I'm sure there are going to be problems," Heidisch predicted, "but I'm already in love with this horse. We might even use the experience in teaching, to help show others what goes into breaking a wild horse and to maybe encourage others to look into the adoption program — it saved a lot of lives."

In a few short weeks together, Aces and Heidisch have established the beginnings of a friendship.

About the program

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) began the Adopt-A-Horse program in 1973 as a humane method for disposing of the excess wild horses and burros which roam public lands.

Since the program became available nationwide in 1976, more than 40,000 animals have been placed in American foster homes.

Before adoption is allowed, applicants must meet accommodation criteria and be able to provide adequate facilities — both a fully enclosed shelter and corral (a minimum of 400 square feet of corral space per animal) or enclosed pasture.

Applicants are screened by a review committee. If approved, applicants may choose their own animals from those available at one of the many adoption sites located across the country.

As many as four animals may be adopted by an individual within a 12-month period.

Every adoptable excess wild horse or burro is examined and administered any necessary medical treatment before adoption, although some may undergo malnourishment or difficulty in adjusting to climate changes.

A record of each animal's medical history is provided to adopters.

Adoption fees include a $25 non-refundable application fee and transportation costs.

An adopter may apply for ownership title to an animal only after providing it humane treatment for one year.

For more information on the Adopt-A-Horse program, write the Bureau of Land Management's Eastern States Office, 350 South Pickett Street, Alexandria, VA 22304.

Romulus appaloosa takes honors in State Fair horse show

Kimberly Ann Snyder, of Romulus, and her roan Appaloosa Stingerette galloped away with first prize in the Limited Non-Pro Reining event at the Michigan State Fair Horse Show Sept. 1.

The winning score for Snyder and Stingerette was 145.5 points out of a possible 160. Snyder and her horse received $116.55, and engraved plaque and a blue ribbon for their brilliant effort. All entries in the class were to follow the National Reining Horse Association's (NRHA) pattern number four as found in the NRHA 1984 handbook.

Stingerette, an eight-year-old mare by Sleepy's Stinger, is trained by Tim Katona, of Belleville. Some of her past accomplishments include tying for third and fourth place in the recent Louisville Reining Classic against 50 competitors.

Snyder said she has been involved with reining for only 1½ years. She added that she has been showing Stingerette for only six months.

Snyder's goal for the future is to "win everything" with Stingerette.

Ken Hobbs, of Belleville, and his loud-colored Appaloosa won the Grand Championship Gelding Under Halter class at the Michigan State Fair Horse Show Sept. 2.

Solar Charge, a five-year-old bay with a white blanket by Rustler Charger out of Cast A Shadow, was high point performance and amateur gelding last year.

Hobbs said he plans to take Solar Charge to the Appaloosa World Show in Oklahoma.

Theatrical awards are announced

The Spotlight Players, formerly known as the Wayne-Westland Civic Theatre, will celebrate their 25th year in existence by performing three plays during the 1984-85 season. "Arsenic and Old Lace" will be performed in mid-October, followed by "Death of a Salesman" in January and February and a musical comedy yet to be determined in the spring of next year. The organization is seeking a director for the musical production.

New officers include Deborah Polich Swain of Wayne, president; Gail Susan Mack, Livonia, vice-president; Jesse James, Wayne, secretary; Carla Lenhoff, Westland, treasurer; Jeff James, Wayne, business and production committee head; Mary Cobello, Westland, publicity director; Nancy Mounsey, Westland, house and tickets' chairperson; John Eastman, Livonia, activities' director, and Annette Aben, Gibraltar, newsletter editor.

Members of the theatrical group recently recognized a number of performers for outstanding achievements during the 1983-84 season:

"Elephant Man" — seven awards. Honored were Mary Cobello, producer; Mack and Eastman, directors; David Rago, best actor; Lorraine Parent, best actress; Mack and Eastman, lighting; Mary Jo Cobello, best supporting actress; Jesse James, sound, and Mark Renfrow, makeup. "You Can't Take It With You" — three awards. Awards were given to Mounsey, producer; Jeff James and Bob Walker, set, and Isabel Barrett and Anne Button, props. Helen Dejiulio received an award for her role as assistant director of "Company of Wayward Saints" and Mary Jo Cobello was honored as best dancer and choreographer in "Holiday Cabaret," which was performed at the Westland Shopping Center.

Further information on upcoming theatrical activities can be obtained by calling 595-6117 or 531-4001.

Unique unicorns

Tara King, 10, of Westland proudly displays her collection of unicorns, which recently earned third-place honors in the hobby division for nine to 14-year-olds at the Michigan State Fair. A fifth grader at Wildwood School, she is the daughter of Stephen and Shirley Hicks. The prize-winning collection was the first entry King had ever submitted for consideration in the State Fair contest.

Street rods featured

Some $19 million worth of street rods, including nearly 1,600 vehicles, will be displayed from 9 a.m. Friday through 3 p.m. Sunday at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

The fifth annual Street Rod Nationals North, sponsored by the National Street Rod Association, will feature driving skill contests, remote control car and boat racing, arts and crafts displays and public viewing of the latest in specialty automobiles and automotive equipment.

Local exhibitors will include Kevin Anderson of Westland, 1932 Ford 5-window; Karl Ketchum, Westland, 1932 Ford coupe; Bob and Janet Brown, Belleville, 1934 Ford 5-window; George and Loretta Speaks, Belleville, 1939 Ford couple; Gary and Marion Hooper, Westland, 1933 Ford Delivery, and Don and Jane Trostle, Canton, 1932 Ford Roadster.

Tickets, priced at $5 for adults and $1 for children six to 12 years of age, are available at the fairgrounds during the event. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday.

The rules defining a street rod state that the car on which it is based must have been manufactured before 1949 and the creation must be street driveable.

Stehle—Dean marry

Cheryl Marie Stehle and Mark William Dean were united in matrimony Aug. 11 at St. Theodore's Catholic Church in Westland.

Fr. LaCasse heard the exchange of nuptial vows before the nearly 250 guests who gathered at the church for the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Russell and Judith Stehle of Lynx Street in Westland and the groom is the son of Marlene P. Dean of South Globe, also in Westland.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown with a long, lace train and a veil hand made by her mother. She carried a bouquet of cascading white flowers accented with pale pink-colored roses.

She was attended by her maid of honor, Sharon Rouse, who was dressed in a dusty-rose colored floor-length gown. She carried a basket filled with pink and white flowers.

Bridesmaids included Stella Brubaker, Tami Sampeur and Pamela Dean, a sister-in-law of the groom. They wore dresses styled to match the maid of honor's.

Kristi Kroll, a cousin of the groom, was the flower girl at the wedding and Joshua Dean, a nephew of the groom, acted as the ring bearer.

Assuming the duties of best man at the wedding was Chuck Borg. Ushers and groomsmen included brothers of the groom Jeff and Eddie Dean, Parke Brown and brothers of the bride, Russell Stehle III and Todd Stehle.

The mother of the bride wore a turquoise colored mid-length dress and the groom's mother chose a white two-piece ensemble with large pastel pink flowers.

Following the exchange of their marital vows, the couple was honored at a reception at Monahan Knights of Columbus Hall in Livonia.

Cheryl Stehle — Mark Dean

The bride is a 1984 graduate of Michigan State University where she earned her bachelor's degree in mathematics.

The groom is also a 1984 graduate of Michigan State University where he earned his degree in financial administration. He is a member of both the university pre-law association and the finance club.

The newlyweds spent a two-week honeymoon in Los Angeles and on a cruise along the Mexican coast.

Miller-Higgins recite wedding vows

Bethany Bible Church provided the setting for the recent marriage of Dee Miller of Belleville and Don Higgins, also of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Higgins

The bride is the daughter of Evelyn Reaume of Woodhaven, and the groom is the son of Gertrude Higgins of Birmingham.

Sixty guests were in attendance for the double-ring ceremony, officiated by the Rev. John Losen. Pink and white carnations decorated the altar of the church. Organist for the ceremony was Mrs. John Logan. Rev. Losen was the soloist.

The bride chose a street length pastel blue cotton dress, with mauve accents and three-quarter length puffed sleeves. Mauve-colored silk flowers accented her hat. Her bouquet was of mauve-colored roses, attached to a clutch purse.

Given in marriage by her son, Chad Newton, 14, the bride asked Natalie Higgins, 15, daughter of the groom, to serve as her maid of honor. She wore a pink polyester dress, trimmed in white, with white polka dots. A matching rose served as her headpiece.

Kyle Higgins, 9, son of the groom, served as ring-bearer, while his sister, Lydia, 7, was the flowergirl. She wore a pink nylon dotted Swiss dress and pink bow ribbons in her hair. She carried a basket of pink and maroon silk flowers for the ceremony.

The groom asked Shane Newton, 15, son of the bride, to serve as his best man. Ushers for the ceremony were Chad and Aaron Newton, also sons of the bride.

Mrs. Reaume chose a mauve-colored taffeta street length dress and wore a corsage of mauve and rose silk wild flowers for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Higgins wore a purple polyester street length dress and a corsage of white carnations and purple silk wild flowers.

A reception for the newlyweds and their guests was held at the church, following the ceremony. The bride and groom treated their children to a pizza party following the wedding rehearsal.

The new Mrs. Higgins is a graduate of Belleville High School and is employed as a bus driver by the Van Buren Public Schools.

Her husband also attended Belleville High School. An Army veteran, he is employed by the Ford Motor Company in Ypsilanti.

The couple and their family are making their home in Belleville.

Happy-as-can-be

Up, up and away for her birthday

When members of her family asked Ina Lunde what she would like to do to celebrate her 84th birthday, she immediately replied that she would like to go up in a balloon in "in the sky so blue," to quote Robert Louis Stevenson's "Child's Garden of Verses."

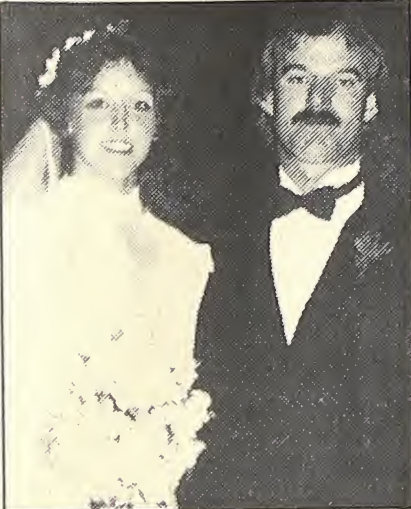

But first the family had to go to Bill Knapp's for her annual birthday dinner.

Joining her for the occasion were, of course, her husband Fred C. Lunde, their son, Fred H., and his wife Ida, daughter Jeanette, and her husband Russell Oliver, granddaughter Mary, and her husband, Joan Hayes and their son, Jay and grandson, Fred R. Lunde and his friend, Alison Holland.

Inclement weather forced the cancellation of several "liftoffs," but on Aug. 25, Ina Lunde had her wish, thanks to Sky Adventure of Rochester. She enjoyed an hour of floating through the sky so blue at 7,000 feet.

After landing in Rochester, the family celebrated with a champagne party, ending a day that won't be so quickly forgotten by Ina Lunde.

honor. The carried crescent shaped bouquets and wore baby's breath in their hair.

Assuming the duties of best man at the service was Fred Montgomery of Wayne. Ushers and groomsmen included Jim Brown of Romulus and Jeff Ballard of Wayne.

The mother of the bride chose an aqua-colored crepe gown accented with an orchid corsage. The mother of the groom chose a blue knit dress and wore a corsage of white roses.

Following the exchange of their wedding vows, the couple was honored at a reception at the church fellowship room, hosted by the bride's family. Dave and Leone Krause, John Suacha and Toni Simonds sang for the guests and Vicki England played both the piano and organ, along with Dawn Arnold and Sue Kahl. The announcer at the reception was Grover Kahl.

The bride and groom served their guests from a three-tiered cake connected by stairways with a fountain in the bottom layer. The cake was accented with decorations of silk flowers and ferns.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Niagara Falls and now reside in Romulus.

The bride is a graduate of Baptist Park School and is presently employed as a pharmacy technician at Family Pharmacy in Romulus.

The groom is employed with the City of Romulus.

Diet Pill Sweeping U.S.

New Grapefruit 'Super Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss

No Dieting - Eat All You Want Pill Does All the Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA. (Special)—An amazing new "super" grapefruit pill has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose at least 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

This "super" grapefruit pill is a dramatically improved version of the world famous grapefruit diet. It is far more effective than the original and eliminates "the mess, fuss, and high cost of eating half a fresh grapefruit at every meal."

"Pill Does All the Work"

According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise, and NO hunger pangs." It is 100% safe. You simply take the pill with a glass of water before each meal and the amazing combination of powerful ingredients are so effective they take over and you start losing weight immediately.

Pill Has ALL Daily Vitamins

The powerful and unique combination of ingredients are what make this a "super-pill". It contains highly potent grapefruit concentrate and a diuretic to help eliminate bloat and puffiness. No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy. The pill is fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government daily vitamin requirements.

Contains 'Japanese' 'Glucomannan'

Each pill also contains an amazingly effective amount of "glucomannan", the remarkable natural dietary fiber discovery from Japan (used successfully for over 1500 years) that expands in your stomach and gives you a full and satisfied feeling all day long.

The super-pill is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Now Available to Public

You can order your supply of these highly successful "super" grapefruit pills (now available directly from the manufacturer by mail order only) by sending $12 for a 14-day supply (or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply) cash, check, or money order to: Citrus Industries, 9903 Santa Monica Bl., Dept. W24, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard, and Amer. Express OK. (Send card number, expiration date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call toll free 1-(800)-862-6262, ext. W24.

Boles breaks record as Glenn rips Belleville Rockets spoil Tiger coach O'Neill's debut

By KEITH DEMOLAY
ANP Special Writer

The lighted figures on the scoreboard at Belleville High School last Friday evening told only part of the story: Quarter-4; Time-10:58; Second Down and 8 to Go; JOHN GLENN 25 BELLEVILLE 0.

The other part of the evening's story — Tony Boles — was lined up at tailback in the red and white of Westland John Glenn on his own 27-yard line. He had just completed a two-yard dive play and had already amassed 187 yards, 35 shy of the school record held by Todd Jennings.

Lined up in front of Boles was 5-7, 171-pound senior fullback

Dana Jones who was contemplating his assignment on the next play. Junior quarterback Steve Irwin (6-0, 193) lined up over center Paul Pomorski (Jr., 5-10, 173) and barked out the signals.

Pomorski snapped the ball, Irwin turned around, and handed it to Boles, and the speedy back stepped through a hole cleared by Pomorski, Rick McCurdy (Jr., 5-10, 193) and Jim Vojak (Sr., 6-1, 216).

Boles got past the linebackers, turned on the gas, and headed toward the left sideline. With the packed Glenn fans standing in admiration, Boles tightrope the sideline and raced untouched into the end zone, to put the Rockets up, 31-0. Chris Piazza's point-after made it 32-0 and the Rockets cemented their first victory and got the 1984 campaign off to a rousing start.

Coach Chuck Gordon, beginning his eighth season as Rocket head coach, said, "It's a great win anytime you win the opener. We played well in spurts but outside of the first drive, we didn't sustain anything. We have work to do but it's a lot easier coming off a win."

It was all Glenn throughout most of this contest as the Rockets posted their second successive shutout over Belleville in two years. The defense,

'Boles just seems to get better and better'

Coach Chuck Gordon

primed for an air attack from the Tigers' signal-caller, Bob Spicer (Sr., 5-10, 160), were ready for this one.

Gordon had praise for his defense. "The defense played well. The interceptions were a big plus for us. Even though Belleville moved the ball, we stopped them when we had to."

Spicer went to the air right away, many times out of the shotgun formation, but Dave Husak, Scott Lucas, Cass Simpson, and Ron Taig consistently stopped him.

Early in the second quarter, Lucas stopped Spicer in more ways than one and even added to the Rockets' 12-0 lead. The 6-1, 172-pound senior stepped in front of a pass on his own 44-yard line and raced down the left sideline for the score.

For Lucas, it was his second touchdown of the evening and the first two he had scored since 1982 when he played fullback on the Junior Varsity squad.

"Lucas played well all season and in the double sessions," said Gordon. "A big night for him doesn't surprise me. He responds to challenge."

Earlier the Rockets had scored on a three-yard run by Boles and a 6-yard pass from Irwin to Lucas. Both scores came in the first quarter and set the tone for the evening as Belleville made a futile attempt at a comeback.

The Tigers amassed only 67 yards on the ground, led by DeAndre Tool's 32 yards. Spicer ended up completing 7 of 15 passes for 61 yards.

In the third quarter, Boles set the Rockets fans into an uproar as he raced 78 yards down the right sideline for the score. The 78-yard run was the longest of his career and the second-longest in Rocket history, behind only the 89-yard scamper by Mac Domke in the late 1960s.

"Boles had an outstanding game. He just seems to get better and better," said Gordon of his junior tailback.

After Boles 73-yard run early in the fourth quarter, Gordon sent in his own "wave" of reserves to preserve the victory. Led by Ron Keast's 31 yards and Todd Quattlander's 9, the Rockets put the game on ice and these 34 young men propelled the team bus all the way home with their first win of the year.

Glenn now prepares for next week's encounter with Pontiac Central. Even though it is Glenn's home opener, Gordon expects "tough game."

"They are a team of great size and outstanding speed. We'll have our hands full."

On Thursday, Glenn's JV team defeated Belleville 7-0 as Rick Beasley scored the lone touchdown of the game and Rich Nastal and Tom Walker led the defensive charge with 5 sacks and 1 interception.

Westland John Glenn spoiled Belleville's football opener in record fashion.

Penalty-plagued Wayne upended by Garden City

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Managing Editor

It was not a typical opener for Wayne Memorial. Plagued by turnovers and penalties, the Zebras really never gave themselves a chance against Garden City, eventually dropping a 33-20 decision last Friday night before a stunned home crowd.

"We've never made those type of mistakes in an opener before," declared Coach Floyd Carter, referring to four Zebra turnovers and 85 yards in penalties. "I don't know what the problem was but we simply didn't play well. Garden City has a nice team and their receivers made some good catches."

The Zebras capitalized on one of two Garden City errors in the first quarter as they recovered a fumble and marched 35 yards for a score. Junior Kwan Hearn, who rushed for 20 yards on six carries for the game, plunged in from two yards out to cap the drive. The conversion attempt failed and Wayne held its only lead of the evening, 6-0.

Mark Roffi then put the visitors on the board quickly with two touchdown strikes, the second covering 24 yards to Mark Hebestreit. The Garden City signal caller completed nine of 14 aeries overall for 131 yards and three touchdowns.

After knotting the score at 6-all, Garden City's kickoff hit a Zebra lineman and was recovered by the visitors, paving the way for the second Garden City TD.

The visitors added another score in the second quarter to go up at halftime, 19-6, and continued the surge with two TD's in the third period that left them ahead, 33-6.

Sophomore quarterback Doug Quartuccio was inserted into the game in the second half and guided the Zebras to a third-quarter TD and a final score in the fourth period.

Hearn put the finishing touches on a 65-yard drive by diving in from a yard out near the end of the third period. Quartuccio, who hit on three of four passes for 59 yards, completed a 20-yarder to tight end Matt Edwards during the drive.

In the final period Quartuccio and Edwards teamed up again, this time for a 44-yard TD strike. Todd Bateman added PAT's following both second-half Zebra scores.

Mike Jackson paced the Zebra rushing attack with 67 yards in 15 carries and Matt Mason added 22 yards in seven tries. Overall, Garden City outgained Wayne, 264-184.

"Defensively, Matt Mason played pretty well and Dave Florn did a good job at center," commented Carter. "We will throw the ball more against Lincoln Park this week. Bob Millyard will start at quarterback."

The Zebras will open the Wolverine A schedule at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Lincoln Park, a 27-0 victor over Inkster last week.

In junior varsity action, the Zebras whitewashed Garden City, 33-0, behind the offensive spark of Darren Tatum, Byron Nolen and Joe Gossett. The jayvees will host Lincoln Park at 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Vikings are routed in opener

Inkster football coach Arnice James wasn't in a talkative mood over the weekend. His Vikings lost a 27-0 non-league opener to Lincoln Park.

"I knew we had problems because of our inexperience," said the Viking coach, "but they really embarrassed us out there. There was no defense and there wasn't anything to talk about offensively either."

The Parkers capitalized upon the lackadaisical Vikings to post the opening night victory with relative ease. Inkster did muster enough offense to threaten in the first quarter as they strung together a 60-yard drive that fizzled at the LP 5-yard line.

David Laws provided some hope for the Vikings as he turned in an excellent all-around performance. The sturdy linebacker was in on most of the defensive plays and he also accounted for 40 yards rushing in seven attempts.

Also, William Springer looked good at split end.

The BIG one: Canton vs. Salem

By BOB TURON
ANP Special Writer

Using a ball-control offense that produced long touchdown drives, the Canton Chiefs opened their 1984 football season with a 14-9 victory over Livonia Bentley.

The Chiefs racked up 306 yards on offense in equaling their entire 1983 victory output.

"That's the most yards we've gained in a long, long time," said an elated coach Richard Barr. "We think we have some fine offensive players who can help us turn this program around."

After falling behind early on a Bentley field goal, the Chiefs took the ball at their own 15 yard-line and marched 85 yards to score. Quarterback David Knapp capped the long drive with a fourth-down, five-yard toss to fullback Mike Johnson.

Bentley came back to take a 9-7 lead with less than a minute to play in the first half.

However, in the third quarter the Chiefs again put together a long drive to take the lead for good.

Canton took the ball at its own 30 and steadily moved down the field. Tailback Rodney Boyd scampered 20 yards to put the ball on the Bentley 5.

Knapp eventually scored on a sneak and the Chiefs were never headed.

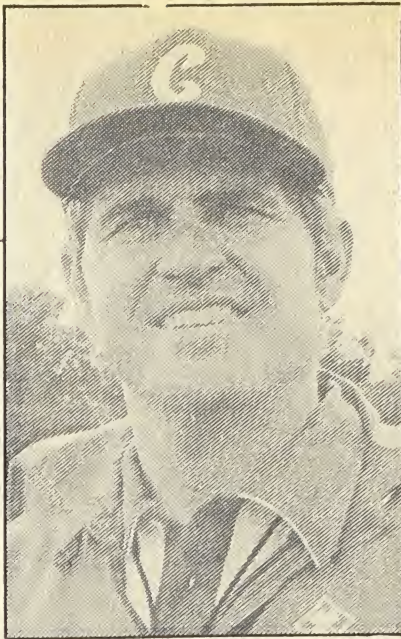

Boyd later had a 45-yard touchdown run called back because of a clipping penalty. Dan Olsevski intercepted a Bentley pass in the final minute to eliminate any hopes for a Bulldog comeback.

Boyd led a balanced rushing attack with 15 carries for 93 yards. Fullback Johnson added 65 yards while Matt Flower chipped in with 38 yards.

Knapp was 5 out of 11 for 51 yards through the air and added another 51 yards rushing.

'We think we have some offensive players who can help us turn this program around.'
Coach Barr

Next on the schedule is arch rival Plymouth-Salem, a team Canton has never beaten. But if they can control the ball the way they did against Bentley, the Chiefs could be in the game all the way.

Richard Barr

2 area stars in SV line-up

Two former Wayne Memorial grid standouts, quarterback Mike Quartuccio, and tackle Doug Mac are seeking starting berths with the Saginaw Valley State College club.

Quartuccio quarterbacked last year's Zebras to a 4-5 season, while Mac won all-league and All-Area recognition. The two players received football scholarships.

George Ihler, head coach at Saginaw Valley, has a host of returning lettermen on this year's squad, and the Cardinals hope to repeat as Great Lakes Conference champs.

Spartans win duel of defense

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It was a classic defensive duel and the protagonists were Cherry Hill and New Boston Huron.

It also featured the debuts of Ken Mientkiewicz who replaced Jerry Pawloski as head coach at Cherry Hill, and of Tom LaBeau, who took over the reins at Huron from Jamie Hinojosa.

For four quarters Friday night at Huron, neither the Chiefs or Cherry Hill could get on the scoreboard. That forced the issue into an overtime.

And it was decisively settled by the Spartans.

On the first play from scrimmage, Cherry Hill QB Mike Sasseen hooked up with tight end Joe Walker on a scoring 10-yard pass. The same duo also connected on the two-point conversion, giving the visitors an 8-0 lead that stood up as the margin of victory.

It was Huron's turn to equal the Spartan effort.

On the first play sophomore quarterback Johnny Umin rolled around left end and lunged to the two-yard line before he was brought down by a host of Spartans. However, the Chiefs were called for Ken Mientkiewicz, a former assistant coach, has assumed responsibility of the Cherry Hill football team, and there will be some changes in the Spartan offensive alignment this year. Although his master plan doesn't include the Tri-River Conference title, Mientkiewicz believes that his charges will be a team to contend with if it can snap out of its offensive doldrums.

illegal blocking on the play and the ball was returned to the Huron 20-yard line.

On their second attempt, Umin went to the air with game-ending results. His pass was picked off by defensive back Rob Bryer whose interception sealed the 8-0 opening night victory for the Spartans and provided Mientkiewicz his first victory as Cherry Hill's head football coach.

"It felt good," Mientkiewicz said afterward, "I am very happy with our defense and of the punting of Paul Oster."

While the defense stopped the Chiefs, Oster booted the ball four times for a 48 yard per average. His contributions pinned the Chiefs deep in their own territory, inside their own 15 twice.

LaBeau also had high praise for his defensive unit.

"It was a tremendous team effort on defense," LaBeau said. "I believe we held them to four first downs. Whenever you do that, you're playing defense."

Dan Zieler led the Chiefs' ballcarriers with 71 yards on 16 attempts, while Umin connected on six of 20 passes for 94 yards.

Huron opens the Huron Conference phase of the season Friday night at Riverview where LaBeau expects a "tough battle." In the meantime, Mientkiewicz used the same words to describe his Tri-River Conference opener with Allen Park, also Friday night.

Mientkiewicz also singled out Bryer for his super defensive effort against the Chiefs. Bryer had six solos and five assists. Teammates Michael Johnson, a linebacker with seven unassisted and two assists, and Walker, a defensive end, earned exceptional praise. Chris Dziadosz, who worked overtime as a tackle, and John Williamson, also a defensive tackle, helped the Spartans post the shutout.

Allen Park will be awaiting the Spartans who have never beaten the Jaguars on the gridiron. The hosts are coming off of a 28-0 victory over Grose Ile.

Last second win for Franklin Pats spoil Osterland's, Churchill's opener

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

If the first game is any indication what the rest of the season is going to be like, then Livonia Churchill's Herb Osterland and crosstown rival, Franklin's Armand Vigna, will probably need straight-jackets at the end of the 1984 football campaign.

With a little more than two minutes left in their game, Franklin scored twice to erase a 15-6 deficit and post a 20-15 non-conference victory over their archrivals on the Churchill's home field.

"First, I want to say it was a super game on both sides," offered Vigna whose Patriots go after the bragging right to the northside (they now have the southside) of the city when they host Stevenson at 1 p.m. Saturday. "I told these kids I have a good feeling about this team. They didn't quit and they withstood two goal-line stands."

Osterland said that he "is proud of his team" and "felt his players tired at the end."

Osterland takes his Chargers on the road Friday night in quest of victory at the expense of Ann Arbor Huron, a team he considers to be "good." Huron dropped their opener 13-8 to Lansing Sexton.

Franklin drew first blood against its natural rival as quarterback Dave Drabicki strung together a 19-play drive, (with the assistance of a roughing-the-kicker penalty) that culminated with Joe Kracher's one-yard TD plunge.

On the second play of the second period Churchill tied the score at 6-all, then went ahead 8-6, thanks to quarterback John Stoitsiadis who broke loose on a 44-yard option play for a touchdown. The senior quarterback also scored the two-point conversion after bobbling the handoff then outrunning the Pats defenders into the end zone.

Churchill increased the margin to 15-6 midway in the third quarter as Stoitsiadis fired an 18-yard TD pass to Andy Oliver. Stoitsiadis kicked the extra point. A 30-yard pass from the Churchill QB to Tom Coutts set up the TD.

But Franklin didn't roll over and die. The Patriots rallied as Craig Dlugos intercepted a Stoitsiadis pass at midfield that ignited his team. In the next series, Drabicki connected on an 11-yard TD pass to DeMay and Bob Solnowski kicked the extra point making it a 15-13 battle.

The Pats went for the onside kick, but Churchill got the ball at midfield. After two unsuccessful plays, the Chargers decided to go to the air and DeMay picked off the pass and raced back to the 44-yard line before he was brought down.

Franklin had a little over one minute and no time outs left.

A 3-yard pass from Drabicki to Brad Norrid and a 38-yard completion to DeMay put the Pats to the Churchill 4, where Drabicki found a hole on an option play to score with less than 30 seconds remaining.

Four desperation passes later, Churchill surrendered.

Drabicki looked good in the opener as he connected on 14 of 31 passes for 203 yards and one TD. Norrid rushed for 75 yards on 15 attempts and DeMay caught six passes for 165. Stoitsiadis led the Charger ground and air attack. He rushed for a net 93 yards and hit on six of 14 aeriels for 148.

Start your own business

The fall series of Small Home-Based Business classes, offered through Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service, will be held Sept. 18 through Oct. 16 from 6 to 8:30 p.m. at the Wayne County Extension and Education Center, 5454 Venoy Road, Wayne.

The fee is $10 per person, or $15 per couple.

The five-week course is an opportunity for people, who have skills and talents that could be turned into profit, to learn the basic information to start a business that will provide additional income for the family.

The program is designed to give students the framework for developing a business plan, a tool that is essential to starting and operating a successful business. Experts share time with the classes answering questions on legal matters, record keeping and taxes and marketing techniques.

To date, 302 persons have taken the course.

and of those, 110 are in viable businesses. Participants are either in or interested in starting a wide variety of ventures such as catering, graphic arts, public relations, home health care, machine repair, construction and shopping services to name a few.

Those who are interested in taking the course or being resource persons (lawyers, accountants, marketing specialists and persons already in a small home business) call 721-6565.

Trophy on wheels

The brand new pink Cadillac being driven through the streets of Belleville by Barbara Stimach is a unique "trophy on wheels" recently awarded her in recognition of her leadership and sales achievements with Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc.

In a company that awards diamonds, minks and exotic vacations to top achievers in the 196,000-member sales force, Mary Kay's pink car is undoubtedly the most sought-after prize.

Stimach, an independent sales director for the Dallas-based cosmetics firm, won the free use of the pink car by leading her sales unit to exceed specified sales levels during a six-month qualification period. The coveted car is the ultimate symbol of success in Mary Kay since, out of 4,200 sales directors, there are only 668 pink Cadillacs on the road.

Stimach joined Mary Kay Cosmetics in April 1975 and earned her sales director position in February 1978.

counted thread cross stitch mounted picture category.

Third-place honors for needlepoint went to Elizabeth Lucas of Westland, and Sharon Eskin of Inkster was fourth in the sewing section's any other class.

Group project second-place honors in needlecraft went to Doris Bubnes of Wayne.

Non-resident park use to be decided by voters

The question of whether non-residents will be allowed to use the Van Buren Township Park will be on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Township trustees voted last week to place the question on the ballot, following complaints by non-area residents who want, at least on occasion, to use the park.

At present, only Van Buren and Belleville residents can make use of the park, located on the South I-94 Service Drive near Rawsonville Road. Van Buren residents pay $5 per year, while Belleville residents pay $7.50 per year. Township and city residents, lacking permits, pay $1 per day for visit.

Township Supervisor George Craven said that settling the question by ballot was "the fair way to go."

"The citizens themselves will decide," said the supervisor.

Craven said that initially he had been in favor of opening the park to outsiders, but that he became concerned after talking to park staff.

"Their feeling was that we'd have to add additional people to the park staff, and that the added revenue wouldn't make up the difference."

Craven said he had "mixed feelings" about the question.

"I'd like to find some way of selectively opening up the park to people in neighboring communities, like Sumpter, but I don't suppose that's possible."

A few Sumpter residents appeared at the June 26 meeting to ask to be allowed to use the park.

Betty Vincent, co-director of Parks and Recreation, said the park was "filled to capacity on weekends. The pavilions are reserved every weekend for picnickers."

In contrast, park activity was "very slow" during the week, Vincent added.

Koesters celebrate golden date

Friends and relatives of Wilbur "Bud" and Allison Koester gathered at the couple's Romulus home July 28 to help the couple celebrate their golden wedding jubilee.

The couple originally exchanged their wedding vows on July 28, 1934, at the Methodist Church in Deckerville, Michigan. Mrs. Koester is the former

Wilbur and Allison Koester

Allison Miller of Romulus.

In attendance was one member of the original wedding party, Koester's brother, who still lives in Deckerville. A wedding cake, made by their daughter, Gloria Mae Koester Chandler, was served to the partygoers. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Melton Baum of Mt. Clemens.

The Koesters have two children — Gloria Mae and the late Wilbur Jr. — and four grandchildren.

The Koesters have lived in the Romulus community since they married and have been active in the Community Methodist Church. Their hobbies include gardening and flowers.

Koester retired from the Ford Motor Company in 1972 after 38 years of employment.

Club honors Mericles

Approximately 350 members of the Kaiser-Frazer Owners' Club gathered in Pigeon Forge, Tennessee, July 27 for their annual convention and to help Ken and Blanche Mericle, longtime Belleville residents, celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

Their daughter, Lorelee Statham, and friend, Mark Dierks, both of Austin, Texas, surprised the Mericles, with a reception held at the hotel where guests were served cake and champagne.

Among the presents and good wishes the Mericles received were engraved gold wedding bands from their daughter. Mrs. Mericle's ring is complemented with a solitaire diamond.

Ken and Blanche eloped and were married in a parsonage in Bowling Green, Ohio, on July 10, 1934.

Kinseys mark 25th

A suprise party was held for Claude and Carol Kinsey to help the couple celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

The party was given by Mrs. Thelma Roy, Debbie Morton and Debbie Kinsey at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roy.

There were 25 friends and relatives in attendance.

Nina Riley attends Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp

Nina M. Riley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Riley of Belleville, recently attended the fourth summer session of the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp in Twin Lake, Michigan.

Riley, a piano major, not only worked on her piano skills, but had an opportunity to take other electives, recreation and camp activities.

Featured during the fourth season at the camp has been the Otsu Children's Choir from Japan, Parisian violinist Annie Jodry, the Kaiserslautern German Band, the Birgitta Choir of Sweden, the Indianapolis Ballet Theatre and the International Youth Symphony Orchestra.

Lunch guidelines set

The Wayne County Intermediate School District as released the guidelines for free and reduced price school meals and free milk for the 1984-85 school year.

The guidelines are established by the federally reimbursed Children Nutrition Programs and affect all schools, preschools and residential child care facilities in Wayne County.

The federally funded programs include the National School Lunch Program, School Breakfast Program, Special Milk Program, USDA Donated Foods Program and the Child Care Food Program.

The guidelines are according to family size and income level. The criteria for a family of one is $6,474 for the free meals and milk and $9,213 for the reduced price meals; for a family of two, $8,736 and $12,432 respectively; for a family of three $10,998 and $15,651 respectively; for a family of four, $13,260 and $18,870 respectively; for a family of five, $15,522 and $22,089 respectively; for a family of six, $17,784 and $25,308 respectively; for a family of seven, $20,046 and $28,527 respectively; and for a family of eight, $22,308 and $31,746 respectively.

For each family member in excess of eight there is an additional $2,262 allowance for the free meals and milk and $3,219 for the reduced price meals.

Children from families whose income is at or below those levels shown are eligible for free meals or milk, or reduced price meals.

A letter to parents with an application form will be sent to all homes by individual preschools, schools, and/or districts. This information may be verified at any time during the school year. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year. To apply for benefits, households should complete the application provided by the school and return it to the school as soon as possible.

For the school officials to determine eligibility, the household must provide information listed on the names of all household members, social security numbers of all adult household members or an indication that the household member does not possess one, and total household income by source for each household member.

Households are required to report increases in household income of more than $50 per month or $600 per year and decreases in household size. Food Stamp Program households may provide their case number instead of income information on the application.

In most cases, foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals for them, they should follow the instructions provided on the application and contact the school, if they need additional information.

Children of unemployed parents may qualify for free or reduced price meals, if total family income including welfare payments, unemployment compensation, and sub-pay benefits fall within the prescribed family income guidelines.

Any parent needing for information on any of the procedures for free and reduced price meals should contact the principal of the school his/her child attends.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF VAN BUREN SPECIAL BOARD MEETING MINUTES AUGUST 30, 1984

Meeting called to order by Supervisor Craven at 7:00 p.m. Pledge of Allegiance. Present: Craven, Dudick, Hall, D'Angelo, Jahr and Montgomery. Absent: Maton (Excused). Others in attendance: Chief Keller, Chief Traskos, Sgt. Davies, Sgt. Perkins, Secretary Tadrick and approximately 10 interested citizens.

Motion Hall, support Dudick to approve Agenda as presented. Carried.

Meeting was called to discuss Millage Proposals for the Police and Fire Departments.

Various recommendations were presented by Members of the Board; One Ballot Question for two (2) Mill to be used for Police and Fire; Special Millage be designated to the General Fund; Lower millage to one (1) Mill to be divided, as needed, between departments; One (1) Mill for Public Safety to be used at the discretion of the Governing Board. Other Board Members felt that by placing separate questions on the November 6th General Election Ballot, when the largest number of residents cast their vote, would be most economical and a clear mandate would be received from Township residents.

Chief Traskos addressed the Board stating needs for the Fire Department both current and future.

Chief Keller also addressed the Board regarding maintenance of vehicles and radio equipment and manpower staffing. Level of service cannot be maintained with demands going up monthly, 1083 complaints handled in July not including walk-ins and telephone calls.

Discussion was held on Ballot Wording Proposals as it was the consensus of the Board that there is a need for additional monies to fund the Police and Fire Departments.

Motion Dudick, support Hall to place separate Ballot Questions on the November General Election Ballot, 1 Mill for the Police Department and 1 Mill for the Fire Department, limited to a period not to exceed five (5) years.

Yeas: Craven, Dudick, Hall and D'Angelo. Nays: Jahr and Montgomery. Absent: Maton. Motion carried.

Motion D'Angelo, support Hall to adjourn at 8:00 p.m.

signs of spring

Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

In celebration of the birthday of Mrs. Warren Hatch, she and her husband enjoyed a special trip planned by their son, David, and his wife, Charlene, to Gaylord over the Labor Day weekend. While there they revisited the one-time Hatch homestead, the area where they lived before they were married 64 years ago and where Mrs. Hatch was teaching school. They also visited a teacher friend at Vanderbilt, whom they hadn't seen in 30 years.

Alice Herkimer and her daughter, Janet Loria of Lansing, have returned home after having spent two weeks at Colorado Springs, Col., with another daughter and husband, Joan and Mark Williams, Darcy and 4-month-old Alison. While there they visited the Garden of Gods and Pikes Peak and enjoyed a visit from Nancy Miller of Canon City.

Rev. and Mrs. Wesley McKelvey from Aurora, Ill., were weekend guests of the former's brother and wife, the Charles McKelveys of Bemis Road.

Edna Florian and her granddaughter, Heather Chie, returned home last Tuesday after having spent a week visiting relatives at McKeesport, Pa. On Saturday, Sept. 1, they were joined by Edna's daughter and husband, Faith and Robert Udovich, and all attended the golden wedding anniversary party for Edna's sister and husband, Mr.

and Mrs. John E. Jones, held at Sunset Fire Hall in North Versailles.

Edna also spent some time each day at the McKeesport Hospital visiting her sister, Roberta Smaligo, and the latter's twin brother, Robert Howard, who have both been quite ill.

Mrs. Henry Potter and grandson, Morton Potter Jr. of Wayne, spent last Friday with the former's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Martin at Flushing.

Ada Sager spent last weekend in Grand Rapids with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Oisterhurt, and then attended the golden wedding anniversary party for cousins, Mr. and Mrs. William DeRoo of Holland, held at the Christian Reform Church in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. LaMarr Gress entertained at their home on West Huron River Drive at a family dinner on Saturday, Sept. 1, honoring their daughter, Natalie, on her 21st birthday. Guests were present from Jackson, Garden City, Romulus and Sarnia, Ont. Natalie has returned to Mount Pleasant to complete her senior year at Central Michigan University.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nolf and family and the former's mother, Vera Nolf, have returned from Cape Cod, Mass., where they had spent a week with Florida friends, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Baker.

Several ladies from the First United Methodist Church called on Hazel Greashaber on Monday, Sept. 3, and enjoyed having ice cream and cake with her to celebrate her 93rd birthday. Others who spent the day with her were her granddaughter, Pat Smith, from Ann Arbor and her great-granddaughter, Sarah Smith.

The third annual reunion of the Korgal-Pawlowski families was held Sunday, Sept. 2, at the new home of Robert and Susan Pawlowski in Milan, with 50 members present, coming from Kalamazoo, Jackson, Ypsilanti and Belleville.

All including three guests, Olivia DeFranco, mother of Elanora Krakowiak of Ypsilanti, from Brazil, S.A., Ronda Martin and Kenneth Fuller, enjoyed the pig roast and other picnic foods. The oldest person present was Frances Korgal of Sumpter Road and the youngest was Jeffrey Drake, 5, from Jackson. There were games for both young and old. Next year's hosts will be Steven Rejmans of Montague.

Past Matron Wilma Tator was hostess for the Past Matron's Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, O.E.S., on Thursday, Aug. 30.

Present for the 12:30 luncheon held at Bonanza in the Lakewood Shopping Center, were 16 members and three guests, June Hawkins, Worthy Matron, Mary Grover, P.M., and Sharlene Tator.

A short business meeting was held with the Chaplain, Florence McKelvey, having the devotions. Visiting and card bingo were enjoyed with prizes for all.

Plans for the O.E.S. luncheon and card party to be held at the Temple Wednesday, Sept. 19, were discussed. Past Matron Frances Cothorn will be the October hostess.

Mrs. Stewart Potts accompanied her son, Tim, his wife Sherry Potts and their daughter, Andrea, of Westland, on Saturday, Sept. 1, to Lake James, where they spent the Labor Day weekend with Sherry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sozmansky.

Several members of the Past Noble Grand Club of Rebehale Lodge No. 250 met for dinner last Tuesday evening at Mountain Jacks at Westgate and later enjoyed an evening of cards at the new home of Clayton and Harriet Walters.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Quinley and their Labor Day weekend guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton returned home on Tuesday from Mecosta.

Brian Roth from Missouri was a guest this past weekend at the Robert Welt home on Willis Road.

Belleville Chapter No. 73, O.E.S. is sponsoring a noon luncheon at the Masonic Temple on Wednesday, Sept. 19, and an afternoon of cards. The public is urged to attend. Tickets may be purchased at the door, or from members.

Members of the Deering Family gathered at the home of Verna Koubish at Silver Lake for a reunion and picnic dinner on Sunday, Aug. 26, including daughters, their husbands and children.

On Thursday evening, Aug.

23, Mr. and Mrs. Kevin O'Keef of Canton entertained at a family gathering at their home in celebration of the second birthday of their son, Patrick.

Present were his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred O'Keef of Ypsilanti, his maternal grandparents, Fred and Joyce Warblow of Van Born Road, great-grandmother, Catherine Warblow of Denton, great-grandfather, Gordon Wesch of Brooklyn and a great aunt, Harriet Spring also from Brooklyn, as well as several aunts and uncles.

State Fair recognizes 4 teens

Four youths from New Boston won eight blue ribbons for vegetables and plants in the Youth Division Crop and Garden Exhibits at the Michigan State Fair.

Natalie Killen, 13, of Tenton Junior High, won a blue ribbon for her squash, and one for her market basket full of produce.

Mary C. Narar-chuk, 16, won a blue ribbon for her terrarium, and one for her hanging basket of coleus.

Marianne Killen, 19, won a blue ribbon for her flat of flowers.

Wayne Yeager, 14, of St. Stephens School, New Boston, won a blue ribbon for his flat of flowers, one for his market basket, and one for his terrarium.

These and other youth exhibits were housed in the West Concourse of the Coliseum for the duration of the Fair.

The Michigan State Fair is the country's oldest Fair.

CITY OF BELLEVILLE ORDINANCE NO. 84-232

AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE ENTERTAINMENT ESTABLISHMENTS IN THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE AND TO PROVIDE A PENALTY FOR THE VIOLATION OF THE PROVISIONS THEREOF.

THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE ORDAINS:
Section 1. That the City of Belleville adopt an Entertainment Ordinance to read as follows:

Article I - Short Title
Section 1. This Ordinance shall be known as the City of Belleville Entertainment Ordinance.

Article II - Definitions
Section 2. For the purpose of this Ordinance, the following words and phrases shall have the meaning respectively ascribed to them by this Article.

Section 2.1. "Cabaret" - Any place wherein food and any type of alcoholic beverage is sold or given away on the premises and the operator thereof holds a yearly license from the state to sell such beverages by the glass and where the patrons are provided with entertainment or space for dancing.

Section 2.2. "Club Cabaret" - An association of persons over the age of eighteen years, organized as a nonprofit corporation, which shall have a listed membership with regular fees for joining or annual dues. Such corporation shall be licensed by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission as a club with established by-laws, officers and directors and shall be engaged in operating a cabaret.

Section 2.3. "Employee" - Any person who provides services to a cabaret, club cabaret or restaurant in exchange for compensation.

Section 2.4. "Restaurant" - Any place wherein food is served, with or without alcoholic beverages, and having entertainment.

Section 2.5. "Operator" - Any person having a license issued by the Michigan State Liquor Control Commission, or any person, agent or employee, operating any cabaret, club cabaret or restaurant.

Section 2.6 "Patron" - Any person who enters upon the premises of a cabaret, club cabaret or restaurant during its hours of operation.

Section 2.7. "Person" - Any person, co-partnership, firm, corporation, society, club, association or organization which engages in, sponsors, or conducts the operation of any cabaret, club cabaret or restaurant.

Article III - General Provisions
Section 3. The following rules and regulations shall, where applicable, govern all types of establishments operating as a cabaret, club cabaret or restaurant, as herein defined, and no operator or his agent or employee shall:

Section 3.1. Permit in or upon the premises; any unlawful or obscene conduct, such place to become a resort for thieves, prostitutes or disorderly persons, or the accosting and soliciting for immoral purposes of any patron or employee by any other patron, employee, or person.

Section 3.2. Permit any of the following conduct either by patrons or employees:

1. The performance of acts, or simulated acts of sexual intercourse, masturbation, sodomy, bestiality, oral copulation, flagellation or any sexual acts which are prohibited by law.
2. The actual or simulated caressing or fondling of the breasts, buttock, pubic region or genitals.
3. The actual or simulated displaying of the pubic hair, pubic region, anus, vulva or genitals.

Section 3.3. Allow or permit any persons to smoke or hold a lighted cigarette or pipe on the dance floor while dancing is permitted.

Section 3.4. Employ any entertainers except those secured from booking agencies licensed by the State. Such entertaining shall comply with the labor laws of the State. Booking agencies and booking agents shall be responsible for and shall, upon demand, furnish a validated certificate of birth as proof of age of any entertainer thus employed.

Section 3.5. Fail to provide separate and adequate dressing rooms for male and female entertainers, if entertainment is provided.

Section 3.6. Permit overcrowding of the dance floor, nor provide less than two hundred square feet of dance space in establishments which have a seating capacity of less than one hundred persons, nor less than 400 square feet in establishments which have a seating capacity of one hundred or more persons. Such dance space shall be plainly indicated by floor markings and shall be kept free of tables, chairs, or any other obstacles during the time that dancing is permitted.

Section 3.7. Permit any intoxicated person to be sold or served any alcoholic beverage, or permit such person to dance, loiter or be employed on the licensed premises.

Section 3.8. Permit employees, including entertainers, to eat, drink, solicit drinks or otherwise mingle with the patrons. Entertainers under eighteen years of age shall not be permitted to remain in that portion of the licensed premises that is open to the public except during periods of actual performance or when accompanied by a parent, legal guardian or spouse over eighteen years of age.

Section 3.9. Permit or be engaged in any illegal act or an occupation on his premises.

Section 3.10. Permit or allow gambling or the use, possession or presence of gambling apparatus or paraphernalia. Only those mechanical amusement devices which have been approved in accordance with the Code of Ordinances of the City of Belleville shall be permitted.

Section 3.11. Permit any person to remain in or upon the licensed premises who engages in conduct prohibited in Section 3.2. (1) or Section 3.2. (2) above or who exposes to public view that portion of his or her private parts as described in Section 3.2. (3) above.

Article IV - Penalty
Section 4. Any person, firm or corporation who shall violate any provision of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, punished by a fine not to exceed One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars, and the costs of prosecution or, in default of the payment thereof, by imprisonment for not to exceed ninety (90) days, or both such fine or imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Each day that a violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense. The imposition of any sentence shall not exempt the offender from compliance with the requirements of this Ordinance.

Section 2. EFFECTIVE DATE. The effective date of this Ordinance shall be the 14th day of September, 1984.

AUTHENTICATION
This is to certify that the undersigned do hereby authenticate the foregoing record of the Ordinance therein set forth.

WATER COMPANY WON'T BUDGE ON LATE CHARGES.

Dear Letter Writer:

In March of 1982, my water company informed me that the outside remote meter on my house did not correspond with my inside meter. They claimed my inside meter was right which resulted in a three-month water bill of $173.10. This amount was considered an average even though it was due to a broken meter. I realized immediately that there was nothing I could do as the water company had all the cards; thus I began making payments to play catch-up with the bill. I will never know if the meter was broken, if I actually used the water they claimed or if I was taken to the cleaners. I subsequently received a very offensive letter from the water company and I want you to help me write a letter back to them. They were insulting to me and I want you to write a sarcastic letter.

Sincerely, E

Dear Water Company:

I very much appreciate your prompt response to my letter to you of June 9, 1983. I appreciate your recapitulation of previous correspondence and, most sincerely, appreciate your time in preparing the "Status" that you sent.

As the "Status" reflects, I have made payments on 4/19/82, 7/13/82, 10/27/82, 12/13/82, 1/20/83 and 4/26/83. Thus, I have made six payments in 14 months, totaling $295.30, which is two payments more than would normally be made, considering water is billed quarterly. Enclosed please find my check in the amount of $25 which now brings the total paid to $320.30 or seven payments in 14 months. I believe that I have made an overt attempt to "catch up" with arrearage that resulted from a "meter that was not recording properly".

In addition to the arrearage, that was caused through no fault of my own, you have assessed me $23.50 in "late penalties." I sincerely believe that inasmuch as the "broken meter" and not my fiscal irresponsibility caused the arrearage, no penalties should be assessed at all. I fully intend to bring my water bill up to date and have exhibited this intention throughout the last year.

I take great exception and feel personally offended by your decisions stated in the second to last paragraph of your letter of June 14, 1983, "... we feel this has been sufficient time to bring your account to date." In the same paragraph, you state, "As a result of your ongoing billings only $39.76 has been applied to the March, 1982 billing." The implication and interpretation of that sentence is likewise offensive as, again, I have, in fact, paid $320.20 since March of 1982.

Had I ignored my water bills or otherwise acted with no attention to my obligations, I feel that you would be correct in your position. However, in light of my past performance, I do not feel that threats or intimidation upon me are warranted. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely, E

RESOLUTION: E got his feelings off of his chest. However, the water company stuck by their guns and the late charges were assessed and E was required to pay the bill in full. This is another situation where a local entity won out over the rights of the individual. E's next step would be to seek legal counsel which, as is often the case, was cost prohibitive.

CANCELLATIONS AND CORRECTIONS
Read your ad carefully the first time it appears, and report any errors before the next edition. This will be the only proof you will receive. Errors should be reported immediately, as Associated Newspapers, Inc. can be responsible for the first or correct insertion only. NO CASH REFUNDS WILL BE MADE.

PUBLICATION POLICY
The publisher reserves the right to edit or reject and properly classify advertising submitted for publication. Publisher shall not be held liable for typographical errors except to the extent of the cost of first insertion and then only for that portion of ad that may have been rendered valueless by such error. Advertisers are advised to check their ad immediately after it appears in the paper and report at once any error in content. Claims for error adjustment must be made immediately after ad is published.

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED AD
1. IT'S ALWAYS BEST to start your advertisement with the name of the item or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment or room for rent or property for sale, it's better to start your advertisement with the location.
2. BE CLEAR. Readers react more quickly and favorably when given complete or definite information. One of the most important considerations of any advertisement is to include the price.
3. MAKE IT EASY for the reader to respond to reach you. ALWAYS INSERT your telephone number or your name and address if you do not have regular hours, state a preferred time to have prospects contact you.
4. PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know (about your offer). The answer you give will make a good classified ad.
5. CLASSIFIED READERS ARE already interested in buying used or new merchandise. These people have the money and are in the market to buy. Give them every advantage you can with good ad copy.
6. CLASSIFIED ADS THAT FAIL to do so through a lack of readability, but because they are often quickly worded and do not contain enough information to prompt action.
